

WINNER OF INAUGURAL DR JACK WARCUP MEMORIAL PRIZE

The winner of the inaugural Dr Jack Warcup Memorial Prize (student prize for the best talk/poster at the Society's conference in August 1999), was Nai Tran-Dinh, from the Department of Microbiology, the University of Sydney.

The abstract for the talk was published in Australasian Mycologist 18, 35 (1999).

MYCOSURFING ON THE WORLD WIDE WEB

A set of mycorrhizal webpages are now available online at:

<http://www.ffp.csiro.au/research/mycorrhiza/>

They are an introduction to mycorrhizas with sections on: roots; VAM; ECM; roles of mycorrhizae; associations of Australian plants; ectomycorrhizal associates of eucalypts; Australian ectomycorrhizal fungi; plus notes on methods, referenes, etc.

MycoKey

MycoKey is now available on the Internet. Try it on <<http://www.mycokey.com/>>. MycoKey is a synoptic key for determination of fungal genera. This first version includes 171 genera and about 700 illustrated species. It covers the genera of basidiomycota with stem and cap (agarics, boletes, etc.) from Northern Europe (i.e. Europe north of the Alps) and will be gradually updated to include more groups. A complete version covering most genera of sexual fungi forming fruitbodies will be available on CD-ROM medio 2001. The authors would very much like your comments on MycoKey.
